

The diagram illustrates the layout of a book spread. A vertical dashed line in the center represents the binding. Two large rectangular areas represent the pages. The right page contains three horizontal lines on its right edge, each with a label to its left. The top line is olive green and labeled 'wewnętrzny margines'. The middle line is black and labeled 'linia cięcia'. The bottom line is green and labeled 'linia spadu'. The entire spread is enclosed in a thin black border, with an additional thin green border on the right side.
